

One system, from hatchery to port.

In Ras El Ma, on a 375-hectare offshore concession, Searulea is developing an integrated aquaculture value chain designed to operate as a single system: offshore farming, fresh processing at port, refrigerated export logistics and end-to-end traceability.